Leaving Certificate Computer Science

Bulletin 2, March 2021

ICCS Student Conference

by Ben Carbonara, Abhinavan Gunasegaran, Conor Cullinan

For many young people, it seems like they always have an idea from a young age of what they want to do when they leave school. Here, it may change but it seems to be not the idea is always there. Everyone is different, many people change their minds, but for some people, they know what they want to do and they work towards that goal. For us, we knew we wanted to do something in computer science, but we weren't sure what exactly we wanted to do. We weren't quite ready to leave school and we weren't ready to go to college. We wanted to take a year or two to see what we really wanted to do and what we could do with our skills. We had heard about the ICCS conference and we had heard it was a great way to meet people and learn about what we could do with our skills. We had heard that it was a really fun event and we had heard that